MONDAY, JUNE 20

In another week or so the anti-Hawaiian annexationists in Congress will feel like the Oregon Democrats.

The Spaniards, that were to invade the United States by the way of Mexico, have evidently been lost in the shuffle.

Captain General August, of Manila, has resigned for the tenth time. A good way to get out of a scrap is to resign, if you can.

Mr. Debs' "Social Democracy" has repudiated Mr. Debs and his theories. Base ingratitude seems to be one of the sins of the average Social Democrat.

Colonel J. W. Bryan was mustered in as colonel of the 3rd Nebraska volunteer infantry today. The colonel is preparing himself for the role of the man on horseback in 1900.

New Mexico will promptly and cheerfully furnish any quota of volunteers, it may be called upon to furnish by the federal government. New Mexico is loyal to the core and has lots of good solid fighting spirit and material.

Captain General Blanco, the other day, caused a few stray shots to be fired from the Havana fortifications and although no harm was done, he immediately got out a proclamation congratulating the Spanish troops on another great and glorious victory. It is a cold day indeed, when Blanco is not victorious on paper over somebody or something.

The sheep owners and cattle raisers of the territory are prosperous this year of our Lord. One of the chief causes of this prosperity is to be found in the beneficial legislation for their interests, enacted by the Republican party and under a Republican administration. Every citizen of New Mexico, interested in the stock business, should work and vote for Republican success. By so doing he will help himself, help the territory and help the nation.

During the years 1894, 95 and 96, under a Democratic administration, this country was continually disgraced by lawlessness and official corruption. During the past year and under a Republican administration this country has been tranquil and peaceable and its public affairs have been honestly and efficiently managed. There is the difference and these are facts, irrefragable facts, that can not be successfully contradicted.

In addition to 50 recruits for the 1st U. S. volunteer cavalry, this territory, under the president's second call for troops, is to furnish one company of infantry. Arizona, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory are to furnish the same quota. New Mexico can be depended upon to furnish the organization called for, which will consist of three commissioned officers and 100 enlisted men, in very short order and in first-class shape.

The Spanish cabinet, with great seriousness, announces that the ships of Admiral Camara's fleet are provided with a very mysterious, but wonderful and fearful explosive, that will blow American armor clads into smithereens, if the contending fleets ever get within fighting distance. The Spanish ministry is now adopting the Chinese way of fighting. A drowning man will catch at a straw and this mysterious, wonderful and powerful explosive will do as well as any other thing in the explosive line.

Governor Otero has named 30 representative citizens as delegates to the International Mining congress to be held in Salt Lake City next month. It is to be hoped that there will be a full attendance of miners and delegates from New Mexico at the congress. The mineral industry of the territory is very important and everything that can possibly be done to foster it should be done. It is the aim of the congress to do the mineral development of the entire west.

One Hundred Dollars Reward.

The local lodge of Odd Fellows has offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension and conviction of the party who killed Benton Robertson. Governor Otero has also been addressed and asked to offer a further reward for the arrest of the murderer. It is to be hoped that the guilty parties will be speedily brought to justice.—Eddy Argus.

There is no question that Robertson was foully murdered, but unfortunately Governor Otero is prevented by law from offering any reward, high or low, to aid in bringing the perpetrators of this crime to justice. The law, as it stands now, absolutely prohibits the governor from offering any reward on behalf of the territory. It was charged, during the sessions of the 33d legislative assembly, that much corruption and fraud had existed under the last Democratic administration in the matter of rewards, and hence, at one fell swoop, the authority of the executive to offer rewards, was taken away. In this case, as in many others in this territory, the cause of justice and of law is made to suffer on account of the short comings or corruption of a Democratic administration.

Mormonism in New Mexico.

Recently, in a lecture delivered before the Congregational Home Missionary society at its annual meeting in Cleveland, O., Eugene Young a grandson of Brigham Young, declared that the conflict with Mormonism in this county, in place of being ended by the suppression of polygamy, had really only begun. Polygamy, he declared, was the least consequential feature of Mormonism; the real danger of the institution lies in the political ambition of the leaders of Latter Day Saints, which, he says, "as broad as the world, and as deep as simple faith itself."

Mr. Young briefly sketched the growth of the Mormon church in political power, pointing out that the two United States senators from Utah were Mormons, and that in that state all elections were determined, not by votes, but by the dictation of the leaders of the church, and further said: "Already Wyoming politicians have found it convenient at times to call for the arbitration of the church in senatorial contests. Colorado is feeling the first faint stirrings of the new force. Arizona and New Mexico—future states—have learned to respect the power of the great Mormon hierarchy. Mr. Young, by virtue of being the grandson of the greatest of Mormon leaders, may be credited with some knowledge of the workings of the church, but he allows his fears of phantoms and improbabilities to run away with his better judgment and actual knowledge of conditions. No doubt the dangers which menace the free institutions of the republic from the Mormon church are more feared in the east, where distance lends greater importance to matters western, than they are in the west.

In the territory of New Mexico, in a total population of about 200,000, there are less than 500 Mormons, and yet Mr. Young asserts that the territory has learned to respect the political power of that number of people. That assertion will prove an amusing piece of information to the politicians of the territory. The fact of the matter is that the Mormons in New Mexico never mix in matters political and are never heard of except as a peaceable, industrious element of the population. To imagine that less than 500 voters scattered from one end of the territory to the other could exert any influence on the election of county officers or of members of the legislature demonstrates very clearly that Brigham's grandson is talking to hear the sound of his own voice, and incidentally rake in a few eastern dollars by telling a gullible people how wicked the church of his grandfather would be if it only had the opportunity.

Senator Stewart's indignation.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, is very much incensed over the bond issue, recently made to provide funds for the country while in a state of war with a foreign power, and pretends to imagine a crime has been committed against the country by the Republican party. In thunder tones of denunciation he says: "The Republican party is the party of bonds. It is the only party which votes to authorize them. Every bond is a shackle on the industries of the country and a mortgage on future generations. The Republican party and bonds are the enemies of the human race."

In making that statement Mr. Stewart has found it convenient to forget the actions of a Democratic president and administration in the past few years. In the time of peace at home and abroad President Cleveland and his advisors, with the full approbation of the Democratic party, issued $254,000,000 in bonds, not to defend the country from invasion or to wage war against a foreign foe, but to pay the running expenses of the government, and this was made necessary by the failure of Democratic legislation to supply the required funds for that purpose. Knowing that by the means of bonds issued at a low rate of interest this country can carry on the war without imposing any great burden on the people, over and above the increased internal tax, Mr. Stewart would rather have had some manner of legislation which would have arbitrarily fixed the price of silver at $1.20 an ounce, in face of the standing that metal has among the nations of the world, and thereby reduce values of all kinds of property in the United States one-half. The proposition that an issue of $300,000,000 in bonds will prove "a shackle on the industries of the country and a mortgage on future generations," is an absurdity on its face. When compared with the wealth of the United States, $200,000,000 is but a drop in the bucket. Taxes will not be increased 1 mill on the $100 dollars valuation, and the tax payers will never know bonds were issued in 1898, except when some blather-skite politicians or sensational newspapers call attention to the fact for the purpose of making questionable political capital out of it.

Perhaps some reason for the senator's indignation may be found in the fact that he has been largely interested in the Comstock mine, one of the largest silver properties in the world, and which in past years made him a multi-millionaire. He was elected to the senate from Nevada in 1897 by the Republicans, and re-elected by the same party in 1899; when his mining ventures failed to bring him millions each year, he ascribed the cause to the Republican party, and now denounces the very party which has contributed to his success in the political world, as an enemy of the human race.

Can Be Raised in Short Order.

(Albuquerque Citizen.) Great honor is again conferred on New Mexico. The territory is to be called upon to take a regiment into the army. They will probably be a part of the army that will occupy Porto Rico.

Suggestions From Grant County.

(Silver City Enterprise.) Among the names mentioned for delegate to congress on the Republican ticket are A. C. Voorhees, of Raton; H. O. Bursum, of Socorro, and W. H. Jack, of this city. Either of these gentlemen would make a strong race and would be hard for the Democratic nominee to catch. They are men for whom Republicans and Democrats would roll up their sleeves and go into a campaign with spirit to do their utmost. Either one of them would be a good candidate.

Volunteers May Retain Their Civil Office.

(New York Journal.) The attorney general has rendered an opinion of great interest to state officials and others who have accepted commissions in the volunteer army. He holds that section 12,322 of the Revised Statutes, which prohibits army commissions, applies only to officers of the regular army. He is of opinion it would be unfair to construe the statutes as affecting officers in the volunteers, because many of them accepted these positions believing that the war with Spain would be of brief duration, and therefore preferred not to relinquish the compensation of the civil offices they held.

Wants a Tax Payers Ticket.

(Silver City Enterprise.) A tax payers' non-partisan ticket is much talked of among property owners throughout Grant county. The proposed plan is to have the residents of each precinct hold non-partisan meetings and send delegates to a convention to be held at one of the larger towns, there to nominate a ticket composed of men pledged to the enforcement of the laws and the minimizing of salaries of officials. Reasonable salaries proper to the services rendered are to be agreed upon, and the nominees if elected are to renounce all rights to exorbitant salaries if such are provided by law. It is a good suggestion, but it is a question whether enough tax payers will take interest in the matter to overcome the pull of the professional politicians and office seekers.

BROADSIDE BATTLESHIP VITORIA.

The Vitoria, as well as another vessel called the Numancia, has no counterpart in the American navy. She is called a "broadside battleship" and is really an old fashioned war vessel remodeled. Her value, therefore, as a fighting machine, despite the fact that she has heavy armor and armament, is problematic. She would probably not have much chance of victory in a brush with a modern battleship or even an armored cruiser of the New York or Brooklyn type.

ARMORED CRUISER CARLOS V.

The Carlos V is a fine new steel armored cruiser and is one of the best vessels in the Spanish navy. Her battery consists of two 11 inch rifles and five 8 inch rapid fire guns.
